

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Deaf Hunter Breaks Barriers and Records — “Silent Assassin” Phillip Morris is Redefining the Outdoors

Texas – June 2025 – In a sport dominated by sound, one man is making history in silence. Phillip Morris, known across the outdoor world as the Silent Assassin, is one of the most accomplished deaf hunters in North America — a record-holding bowhunter, 10mm handgun specialist, and founder of the first deaf outdoor channel on Roku, SA Outdoors.

Born and raised in Ohio, Phillip moved to Texas in February 1998, where he built a hunting legacy grounded in discipline, precision, and purpose.

Record-Breaking Hunting Achievements:

- NWTF Wild Turkey Record – 22.91 lbs, 11 8/16" beard, score of 70 (Texas, 2015)
- Pope and Young-certified Buck – 143 6/8
- SCI Silver Medal – Painted Desert Ram – 113 0/8 score, ranked #12 in North America (2022)
- Largest Hog Taken with a 10mm Glock
- Grey Fox & Bobcats – Taken with both bow and Glock

Tournaments & Tactical Mastery:

- Multiple 1st Place wins – Lone Star Bowhunters Association
- 2nd Place Male Hunter Division – Hill Country Bowhunters
- Recognized expert with the 10mm Glock and sniper rifle
- Featured in Handgun Hunting: A Comprehensive Guide by Kat Ainsworth — mentioned and pictured with a bobcat and Glock 10mm

Pioneer in Media and Deaf Outdoor Advocacy:

Through SA Outdoors and the first ASL-based outdoor podcast, Phillip is building more than content — he's building a movement. His work bridges the deaf and hearing hunting communities, showcasing educational content, product reviews, and raw, real-life stories from the field.

“Most thought it was impossible,” Phillip says. “But I never needed sound to hunt. I only needed purpose.”

Media Inquiries & Sponsorship Contact:

Website: www.SAOutdoors.com

Email: info@saoutdoors.com

Media kit, logo, and images available upon request

About Phillip Morris – The Silent Assassin:

Phillip Morris is a deaf hunter, archer, and record-setter who redefined what's possible in the outdoor world. Known for his silent precision, raw focus, and message-driven platform, he's proving that silence is not a weakness — it's a legacy.